For Jewels.

Jewel cases hidden beneath a large satin bow make dainty little Christmas Quenelles of presents. For the foundation use a piece of round cardboard, measuring about six inches in diameter. Cover this with cotton wadding. On this foundation sew up standing rings of cardboard, line them with cotton wadding and use them for little pockets. Sew a narrow edge of lace to a broad band of ribbon. Shirr the ribbon so that it forms a deep frill. Let it cover the jewel case, being fastened in the centre with a rosette or a big bow of ribbon. These little cases make a safe

A Brend Ordinance Needed. To the Editor: in re, the bread question, I offer the follow ing: That the Board of Aidermen pass an or dinance regulating the weight of bread; then the boss bakers will be forced to fix a price per pound in short order. Now the buying public will not rush to the bakery who is charging one cent per pound more than his competite n tie next block or across the street. As bread is a perishable article, there need be no apprehe tion of a bread trust. There should also be appointed an intelligent, practical baker as in appeter attached to the Health Department, who rould do his work honestly and efficiently, and see that slean, healthy working bakers were employed to handle the food of the public; aim o see that the workshops were kept in a rlean sanitary condition.
